Your Headshot

In the Acting and Performance Industry your Headshot is your first point of contact with a potential employer.

It is important that your headshot look looks good, represents you and shows off your potential looks. It represents who you are, a little of whom your character can be, as well as your confidence, style and look.

A managing agent will require one or more photographs from you consisting of a flattering image of the head clearly displaying eyes, nose, mouth, ears and hair in simple, direct lighting.

Tips – preparation

Clothing – Come to the shoot with a selection of about 7 different tops, jackets, jumpers and shirts with a variety of textures, colours and styles - especially around the neckline.

Men may if they wish, choose to come with some facial hair which they may shave off halfway through the shoot. There is a bathroom/change room attached to the studio.

Usually shirts a little darker than your skin tone work well, bringing out your features and not your clothing.

Makeup/Hair – bring your makeup kit, hair ties, clips etc., to create multiple 'looks' during the shoot or ask about our professional hair and makeup artists – an additional charge applies.
